

Crommelin, Mepsche

August 6, 1889

Hill to T.Z. Cowles

Crommelin has been my correspondent, then he was Mr. Upham's, and now he is yours with our sympathy! He has never been able to realize that the mortgage had been foreclosed and that his distributive share was in the hands of the Court. He is all wrong in regard to Sahlgaard as well. Mr. Sahlgaard and others brought some blackmailing suits, which were tried in U. S. courts and went against them.

UJH LetterBook, 2/15/89 - 10/23/89, p. 446