SCOPE AND CONTENTS

Records relating to the Welsch Consent Decree, a landmark court case (1972-1989) which led to major changes in the treatment of Minnesota's institutionalized mentally retarded citizens. The division's compliance officer worked with the U.S. District Court Monitor for the Welsch Consent Decree to ensure compliance with the provisions of the consent decree.

The records include subject files (1967-1991), records on rules pertaining to use of aversive and deprivation procedures in facilities serving mentally retarded persons (1967, 1975-1980), files concerning state institutions and community homes affected by the Welsch Consent Decree (1973-1990), correspondence (1982-1989), statistics on admissions and discharges from state institutions (1980-1990), Welsch Consent Decree Compliance Officer's subject files (1980, 1984-1986) and Hawthorne House and Hearthside Homes compliance records (1982-1984) and proceedings (1984-1986), Welsch client census reports (1986-1988), and field review records (1987-1988). Materials dated prior to 1984 originated in the former Public Welfare Department.

Topics dealt with in the files include children's issues, community needs assessment and placement, compliance/non-compliance, dental services, legislation, mental retardation services, physical therapy, psychotropic medications, habilitation programming, quality assurance, regional treatment centers, respite care, nursing homes, various Decree rules, staffing, state hospitals, and training. Also contained in the records are informational, instructional and request bulletins; corrections orders; dental services surveys; Moose Lake State Hospital photographs; policy analysis series papers; technical assistance reports; Welsch compliance work plans; series of correspondence with the Court Monitor's Office and the Legal Advocacy for Persons with Developmental Disabilities; and Human Services Department office memoranda.
