ADMINISTRATIVE HISTORY

The Crookston land district was created out of the northern part of the Alexandria land district by an act of Congress of March 12, 1872. By law the district was called Oak Lake after the site of the first land office, but it came to be generally referred to as the Crookston land district. The boundaries of the district changed several times. The following description of the district boundaries corresponds to the numbered diagrams on the accompanying sketch map. All ranges are west of the 5th principal meridian.

(1) The Act of March 12, 1872, established the Oak Lake/Crookston land district, consisting of townships 137-164 in ranges 36-51.

(2) By executive order of January 16, 1896, townships 146-168 in ranges 30-35 were added to the Crookston district from the St. Cloud district.

(3) Executive order of April 1, 1903, establishing the Cass Lake land district, removed townships 146-146 in ranges 30-35 from the Crookston district.

Land offices of the Crookston land district: Oak Lake (April 1872 – October 1873); Detroit (November 1873 – ca. April 12, 1879); Crookston (ca. May 5, 1879 – April 30, 1925).

Receivers of the Crookston Land District: R. Reynolds (1872- ? ), P. C. Sletten (<1876-June 1884), L. K. Acker (September 1884-May 31, 1893), William Anglim (June 1, 1893-June 9, 1897), A. F. George (June 12, 1897-January 31, 1906), John Patterson (February 1906- ).

Registers of the Crookston Land District: W. A. Newton (1872-March 2, 1874), Thomas C. Shapleigh (March 5, 1874-December 1, 1881), John Cromb (December 7, 1881-December 23, 1885), William Smith (December 28, 1885-December 15, 1887?), H. H. Dickman (May 17, 1888-October 14, 1891), Hugh Thompson (October 15, 1891-November 13, 1894), T. A. Dunlave? (November 14, 1894-December 1, 1896), Joseph Smith (December 5, 1896-March 1897?), Sylvester Peterson (March 17, 1897-May 31, 1905), R. J. Montegue (June 1, 1905- ).

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Note to Researchers: To request materials, please note both the location and box numbers shown below.

Abstract of Preemption Declaratory Statements, 1872-1890. 0.75 cubic feet (2 volumes, 1 partial volume, and 1 oversize folder in 1 box).

Abstracts of preemption declaratory statements filed in the Alexandria and Crookston Land Districts under provisions of the General Preemption Act of 1841.

The Preemption Act of 1841 recognized the claims of those settlers or "squatters" who had settled on public land before it had been offered for sale. This act enabled the settler to purchase the claim at the minimum price rather than having to bid for it at public auction. The preemptor was required to file a declaratory statement within three months after the local land office had received the survey plat of the township in which the claim was located or within three months of making settlement. The declaratory statement, which gave the date of settlement and detailed the improvements made to the property, was used by the land office to determine the validity of the claimant's preemption, and it established the priority of his claim against those of other claimants.

When the land office announced that an area of land was to be offered for sale, the preemptor had to pay for his land before the date of the sale or risk losing it to the highest bidder. For land that was open to private entry, the preemptor had to make payment within one year of filing a declaratory statement. In 1854, preemption rights were extended to settlers on unsurveyed land.

The abstract for each declaratory statement gives statement number, date of settlement, date the declaratory statement was filed, name of preemptor, legal description of the tract preempted, and occasional remarks on the eventual disposition of the tract.

Arrangement: Numbered chronologically by date the statement was filed. There are separate sequences for preemptions on "unoffered" lands not yet open for settlement (Volumes 1-2) and on "offered" lands that were preempted after being opened for settlement (Volume 3).

Related materials: United States: General Land Office: Original Entry Tract Books (cataloged separately) cite the type and number of the certificate issued on the preempted parcel; the parcel can then be located in the appropriate register of entries.

	3	Nos. 1-835, February 1873 - July 1889 (offered land). (Also includes entries 1-1074 for unoffered land; duplicative of Volume 1.)
	---	Abstract of Receipts for Declaratory Statements, January - May 1885. 1 folder.

Abstract of Soldiers' Homestead Declaratory Statements, 1872-1893. 1 oversize folder.

An abstract of declaratory statements filed by former soldiers seeking to enter additional homestead land in the Crookston land district under provisions of the Soldiers and Sailors Act of June 8, 1872, which was designed to provide a bonus to those who had served in the Civil War.

This act allowed a veteran whose original homestead was 40, 80, or 120 acres to make an additional homestead entry of 120, 80, or 40 acres, respectively. The act also allowed veterans to count their time in service against the residence requirement of the Homestead Act, thereby permitting them to make final proof after as little as one year's residence on their claims. Originally the act restricted the additional entry to land contiguous to the original homestead. This restriction was lifted by an act of March 3, 1873, which allowed the additional entry to be made on any offered or unoffered land open to homesteading. In addition, the soldiers' rights were made assignable, in effect creating a type of scrip.

The abstract for each declaratory statement gives statement number, date filed, name of the person filing the statement, legal description of the parcel applied for, and occasional remarks with citations to letters received from the commissioner of the General Land Office. Numbers 1-109 are missing. Numbers 1051-1066 appear to be interspersed with the entries in the Abstract of Timber and Stone Declaratory Statements.

Arrangement: Chronological by date the statement was filed.

Abstract of Timber and Stone Declaratory Statements, 1895-1908. partial volume.

An abstract of declaratory statements filed in the Crookston land district under provisions of the Timber and Stone Act of June 2, 1878, as amended August 4, 1892.

The Timber and Stone Act provided that unoffered, unreserved public land valuable chiefly for timber or minerals could be sold to individuals in quantities not to exceed 160 acres at a minimum price of $2.50 per acre. The purchaser had to file a declaratory statement swearing that he was not purchasing on speculation but intended the entry for his own use. The act of 1878 applied to several western states and territories but was extended to all public land states by the 1892 amendment.

The abstract for each declaratory statement gives statement number, date filed, name and residence of applicant, legal description of the tract applied for, and occasional annotations citing the certificate number in the Register of Certificates to Purchasers or citing letters received from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Arrangement: Arranged chronologically.

Contest Affidavits, 1886-1908. 4.5 cubic feet (4 boxes and 1 partial box).

Affidavits initiating contests against homestead, preemption, and other land entries. Some affidavits are accompanied by other documentation relating to the contest.

The affidavits give the names of the contestant (plaintiff) and entryman (defendant) in the contest, number and type of the entry being contested, legal description of the contested tract, date the affidavit of contest was filed, grounds for the contest, testimony of contestant and witnesses, and in most cases the decision of the register and receiver. This series appears to include affidavits only for those cases in which the decision of the register and receiver was final. Affidavits for cases appealed to the commissioner of the General Land Office were apparently forwarded to the GLO.

Arrangement: Affidavits corresponding to contests in docket volumes 1-3 are labeled by volume and page on which the contest is entered in the docket. After this the affidavits are arranged by docket number.

Contest Decisions, 1899-1902. 0.5 cubic feet (partial box).

Copies of decisions rendered by the register and receiver of the Crookston land district on contested entries.

The register and receiver acted as arbiters in instances in which two or more individuals had filed claims to a parcel or in which an individual or the government challenged the validity of an entry. They took testimony from the contestants and witnesses and rendered their decision on the evidence presented. If the register and receiver differed in their verdict on a case, it was forwarded to the commissioner of the General Land Office for decision. Decisions of the register and receiver could be appealed to the commissioner.

The contest decisions give contest docket number; the names of the contestant (plaintiff) and entryman (defendant); type and number of entry being contested; legal description of the contested tract; date the entry was made; grounds of the contest; a summary of the evidence presented including date of settlement, improvements made, and biographical information; and the decision of the register and receiver with supporting reasoning and citations.

Arrangement: Arranged by contest docket number.

Contest Dockets, 1880-1913. 5.2 cubic feet (15 volumes in 7 boxes and 1 partial box).

A summary record of official proceedings in contests brought against homestead and other entries in the Crookston land district.

The docket entry for each contest case gives date filed, names of plaintiff (contestant) and defendant (entryman), number of entry contested, legal description of the parcel covered by the contested entry, summary of actions taken on the case, and citations to decisions of the register and receiver or the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Proceedings in several cases are continued in the Cass Lake land district.

Arrangement: Entries are numbered chronologically by date the contest was filed.

Indexing-Note: Volumes 6-14 are indexed by name of defendant.

Contest Notices, 1899-1906. 0.2 cubic feet (4 folders in partial box).

Copies of letters sent to entrymen notifying them that a contest had been filed against their entries. The set does not appear to be complete.

The contest notices give docket number, date a notice of contest was issued, name of person bringing the contest, entry number and date of entry of the contested claim, name of the entryman or defendant in the contest, grounds for the contest, and date set for a hearing before the register and receiver.

Arrangement: Arranged by contest docket number.

Correspondence: Letters Received from GLO, 1872-1908. 24.0 cubic feet (24 boxes).

Letters received by the register and receiver of the Crookston land district from the commissioner of the General Land Office. They include letters of transmission and acknowledgment, instructions to the register and receiver, decisions of the land commissioner and secretary of the interior in contested cases, and notices of approval or rejection of land entries.

The letters forwarding decisions of the commissioner and the secretary of the interior contain the most significant information. They generally include a summary of the facts in the case, giving information on the date of settlement and entry, improvements made on the claim, and biographical information on the contestants and witnesses. Some of these letters include transcripts of testimony and affidavits relating to the case.

Among the subjects discussed in the other letters are preemption, homestead, timber culture, military bounty land warrant, and cash entries; state swamp land grants; land grants of the Northern Pacific and the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railroads; the survey and settlement of Indian land, especially the Red Lake and White Earth reservations; Indian allotments; fraudulent timber entries; timber trespass on public and Indian land; public land sales; and the general operation of the land office.

Arrangement: Arranged chronologically.

Related materials: United States. General Land Office. Original entry tract books (cataloged separately) include citations, by date sent, to letters received from the commissioner of the GLO regarding specific parcels of land.

Handwritten and letterpress copies of letters sent by the receiver of the Crookston land district in his capacities as receiver of public money and government disbursing agent.

Principal correspondents are the commissioner of the General Land Office, secretary of the treasury, and comptroller of the Treasury Department. The letters include transmittals of monthly and quarterly reports of accounts current and estimated office expenditures; inventories of office supplies and records; requests for information on procedural matters; responses to inquiries from the General Land Office or the Treasury Department about office receipts and expenditures; and reports on public auctions and the general operation of the land office. Occasional letters relate to contested entries. There are some miscellaneous letters to entrymen, lawyers, bankers, and land agents.

Correspondence: Register's Letters Sent, 1872-1913. 6.0 cubic feet (54 volumes).

Handwritten and letterpress copies of outgoing letters of the register of the Crookston land district. They are written primarily to the commissioner of the General Land Office, with some additional letters to federal and state officials and private citizens. Some letters of the receivers are also included.

Letters to the GLO fall into two broad categories: routine interoffice communications, and letters relating to imperfect or contested entries. The routine administrative correspondence includes letters of transmittal and acknowledgment, monthly and quarterly reports of entries made, records of patents delivered, requests for record books and forms, inquiries on procedural matters, and general commentary on the operation of the land office.

The letters relating to contested entries include reports of the decisions of the register and receiver, accompanied by summaries of the facts and witnesses' testimony for those cases that were appealed to the commissioner of the GLO. In addition to naming the rival claimants and giving the legal description of the contested parcel, these letters often cite the date of settlement and entry, describe the improvements made--sometimes in great detail--and give biographical information on the contestants and witnesses in the case. The letters concerning imperfect entries are usually responses to requests from the commissioner for additional information needed to approve an entry. This most often related to the entryman's naturalization, change in name, witnesses' testimony, or procedural matters.

The series includes occasional letters to registers of other land offices and to the U.S. Surveyor General, and a few letters to the Minnesota governor or state land commissioner relating to state land grants.

Letters to private individuals consist primarily of notices of hearings set, appeals forwarded, or decisions rendered in contested cases; requests for additional information or testimony; and procedural instructions necessary to perfect an entry.

Among the topics covered in the letters sent are: homestead and preemption claims, military bounty land warrant entries, railroad land grants, Sioux half-breed scrip entries, townsite locations, public land sales, and state land grants.

Beginning in April, 1897, this series consists mainly of letters to the commissioner of the General Land Office. Other letters were recorded in the separately cataloged series, Register's Miscellaneous Letters Sent. Volumes 39-51 are labeled "Departmental Correspondence."

Correspondence: Register's Miscellaneous Letters Sent, 1897-1908. 9.0 cubic feet (9 boxes, containing 69 volumes and 1 folder).

Letterpress copies of letters sent by the register of the Crookston land district to private individuals, attorneys, land agents, and special investigating agents of the General Land Office. Some receiver's letters are included also. A number of volumes are labeled "General Correspondence."

Letters to private individuals include replies to requests for information on the availability of land, the status of entries and contest cases, and procedures for making various types of land entries; instructions on perfecting erroneous applications to enter land; and discussions of alleged illegal cutting of timber on public land. Letters to special agents of the GLO explain cases in which the register was asking the special agent to investigate "suspicious proofs" made by entrymen, giving details of the entry and the reasons for questioning the proof.

Record of Applications to Make Final Proof, 1905-1908 June. 1 volume.

A record of applications to make final proof on homestead and Timber and Stone Act entries in the Crookston land district. The series records applications to make proofs for homesteads on public land, ceded Chippewa land, and ceded Red Lake land.

The record of each application gives type of entry, entry number, date of entry, name and residence of entryman, legal description of the tract to be "proved up," date of application to make proof, person before whom proof is to be made, where proof is to be made, date set for proof, newspaper in which proof is to be announced, date proof was actually made, and action taken by the register and receiver (proof accepted or rejected).

Entry numbers above 10,000 are for homestead entries on public land, entry numbers 2000-9628 are for homestead entries on ceded Chippewa land, and entry numbers below 1405 are for homestead entries on ceded Red Lake land.

Arrangement: Entries are chronological by date the application was filed.

Record of Miscellaneous Applications, 45% 1896-1909. 1.0 cubic feet (2 volumes and 1 partial volume).

A record of applications filed in the Crookston land district to amend a homestead entry, make a second homestead entry, take a leave of absence from a homestead, purchase an isolated tract, or file a protest against a homestead entry.

The record for each application lists the application number, type of application, tract involved, name of the applicant, date of application, and remarks on the granting or rejection of the application with occasional citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office or to the Contest Docket. The applications for leave of absence from a homestead were recorded separately in volume 1 of the separately cataloged Record of Rejected and Suspended Applications and Proofs between January 1897 and June 1902, but thereafter were recorded consecutively with the other miscellaneous applications.

Arrangement: Entries are chronological by date the application was filed.

Indexing-Note: Volumes are individually indexed by name of applicant.

Record of Patents Delivered, ca.1870-ca.1911. 0.5 cubic feet (2 volumes).

Record of patents delivered to patentees or their agents for land entered in the Crookston land district.

The record gives the certificate number, person to whom the patent was issued, date the patent was issued, volume and page where the patent is recorded in GLO records, name and address of the person to whom the patent was sent, and date it was sent.

Indexing-Note: Entries are listed or indexed by name of patentee.

Record of Rejected and Suspended Applications and Proofs, 1896-1908. 1.7 cubic feet (4 volumes and 1 partial volume).

A record of applications to enter land and of final homestead proofs that were rejected or suspended by the register and receiver of the Crookston land district or the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Each entry gives rejection/suspension number, description of the tract involved, name of the person applying to enter land or make final proof, date of suspension/rejection, and remarks noting documents received, actions taken, and/or the grounds for suspension/rejection. Some include citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office and notes on the eventual disposition of the entry. Applications and proofs that were suspended by the register and receiver were usually forwarded to the commissioner of the General Land Office for final decision.

Arrangement: Arranged chronologically.

Indexing-Note: Volumes 3-5 are indexed by name of applicant/entryman.

Register of Agricultural College Scrip Entries, 1872 June – 1897 April. 1 volume.

An abstract of land entries (nos. 1-112) made in the Crookston land district with agricultural college scrip under provisions of the Agricultural College Act of 1862.

The Agricultural College Act, commonly referred to as the Morrill Act, granted each state 30,000 acres of land for each of its United States senators and representatives. The proceeds from the sale of this land were to be used for the benefit of colleges of agricultural and mechanical arts in the state. Those states in which public land was still available for private entry selected their grant from the public land within their boundaries. Those states without sufficient public land received scrip of equal value, which could be redeemed for public land in the western states. The states receiving scrip could not enter the land directly but were required to sell the scrip to second parties, who then either used it to locate land or resold it.

The abstract for each scrip entry gives land office entry number, scrip number, the date a scrip certificate was issued, to what state the scrip was issued, acre value of the scrip, legal description of the tract located with the scrip, date located, and by whom located, with occasional added remarks.

Arrangement: Entries are chronological by date the scrip was located (a certificate was issued).

Register of Certificates to Purchasers, 1872-1908. 1.9 cubic feet (6 volumes).

An abstract of certificates issued by the register of the Crookston land district for land entries made by cash purchase, scrip, or warrant. The certificate established the buyer's legal claim to a parcel of land pending issuance by the GLO of a patent that formally transferred title.

The abstract for each certificate gives certificate number, date issued, name of purchaser and county of residence, legal description and acreage of the parcel purchased, price per acre, and total purchase price. Most also include a citation to GLO patent records. A few include citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Included in this series is the receiver's register of receipts for cash entries, which is largely duplicative except for occasional differences in the annotations.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned certificate number.

Register of Certificates to Purchasers of Chippewa Land, 1896-1908. 1.5 cubic feet (4 volumes in 2 boxes.)

An abstract of certificates issued for land entries made by cash purchase in the Crookston land district for ceded Chippewa reservation (or pine) land, under provisions of the Nelson Act of January 14, 1889, and an act of February 20, 1904 (33 Stat 46). The procedure for making cash entries on this land was the same as for cash entries on public land, except that the minimum price was based on the appraised value of the timber on the land.

The abstract for each certificate gives certificate number, date issued, legal description and acreage of the parcel purchased, name of purchaser, appraised value, price per acre, and total purchase price. Most abstracts are annotated with the date the patent was issued and the volume and page in which it is recorded in GLO patent records. Some include citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office. The series also records installment and commutation payments for homestead entries on ceded Chippewa land.

Register of Final Homestead Certificates, 1873-1908. 2.4 cubic feet (6 volumes).

An abstract of all final certificates issued for homesteaded land in the Crookston land district.

The abstract for each final certificate gives certificate number; date the certificate was filed; legal description of the tract homesteaded; name of applicant and county of residence; number of the original homestead application (recorded in the separately cataloged Register of Homestead Entries); commissions and fees paid; price per acre (commissions were based on the appraised price per acre); and various remarks relative to delivery of patents, citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office, and citations to the Register of Certificates to Purchasers (cataloged separately) if the acreage of the parcel originally entered was in excess of the applicant's homestead eligibility.

Final certificates for some Crookston homestead entries are recorded in the Cass Lake register.

Included in this series are registers of receipts for the commissions and fees paid in conjunction with the issuance of final homestead certificates. They largely duplicate information in the registers of certificates, except for occasional differences in the annotations.

Register of Final Homestead Certificates for Chippewa Land, 1899-1908. 0.75 cubic feet (2 volumes).

An abstract of final homestead certificates for homestead entries made on ceded Chippewa reservation land under provisions of the Homestead Act of 1862 and the Nelson Act of January 14, 1889. This series consists primarily of homestead entries on land ceded from the White Earth Reservation.

Final certificates for homesteads on ceded Chippewa land were issued after the entryman had proved up his claim, demonstrating compliance with the residency requirements as in regular homestead entries, and had paid for his homestead as provided for by the Nelson Act.

The abstract for each final certificate gives certificate number, date the certificate was issued, legal description of the tract homesteaded, name of the entryman, number of the original homestead entry (recorded in the separately cataloged Register of Homestead Entries on Chippewa Land) and occasional remarks with citations to letters received from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Included in this series is the receiver's register of final homestead receipts for Chippewa Land, which is largely duplicative except for occasional differences in the annotations.

Register of Final Timber Culture Certificates, 1884-1903. 0.7 cubic feet (4 volumes).

An abstract of final certificates for land entered in the Crookston land district under provisions of the Timber Culture Act of 1873, the intent of which was to encourage the planting of trees on the western prairies.

The Timber Culture Act enabled qualified individuals to acquire title to 160 acres of land on the condition that part of it be planted to trees. The final certificate was issued after the entryman had "proved up" his timber culture claim by demonstrating to the land office that he had complied with the provisions of the Timber Culture Act. When the final certificate was turned in to the Land Office, a patent was issued formally transferring title.

The abstract for each final certificate includes the following information: final certificate number, date the certificate was issued, legal description of the tract on which the certificate was issued, name and residence of the entryman, number of the original timber culture entry, fees paid, and occasional remarks with citations to letters received from the General Land Office.

Included in this series is the Register of Final Timber Culture Receipts. The final receipt was issued by the receiver of the land office to the entryman for money received in payment of fees and commissions. The register of final receipts contains the same information as the register of final certificates, except that there may be occasional differences in the annotations.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned certificate number.

Register of Homestead Entries, 1872-1908. 3.0 cubic feet (3 boxes).

An abstract of all applications to acquire land under the provisions of the Homestead Act of 1862 that were filed in the Crookston land district.

Individuals seeking to acquire land under the Homestead Act first filed an application or "declaratory statement" with the local land office, thereby establishing their claim to a particular tract of land. They were then required to live on and improve the land for five years, after which time they presented the local land office a "final proof" of their compliance with the provisions of the Homestead Act. If the land office accepted the proof, it issued a "final certificate." The final certificate was then turned in to the General Land Office, which issued a patent formally transferring title to the homesteader.

The abstract for each homestead entry gives number of the application or declaratory statement; date of application; name of the applicant; legal description of the parcel entered; and remarks on the issuance of a patent, cancellation, or other disposition of the entry, with citations to relevant letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Included in this series is the receiver's register of homestead entry receipts, for fees and commissions paid by the homesteader at the time of entry. It is largely duplicative, except for occasional differences in annotations.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned application (entry) number.

Register of Homestead Entries on Chippewa Land, 1896-1908. 2.0 cubic feet (6 volumes).

An abstract of homestead entries in the Crookston land district on ceded Chippewa reservation land made under provisions of the Homestead Act of 1862, the Nelson Act of January 14, 1889, and an act of February 20, 1904 (33 Stat 46).

The Nelson Act (after Minnesota Congressman Knute Nelson) called for the Ojibwe to cede all of their reservation land in Minnesota except the Red Lake and White Earth reservations. All Ojibwe except the Red Lake Band were then to be concentrated on the White Earth Reservation and given allotments in severalty. The Red Lake Ojibwe were to receive their allotments on the Red Lake Reservation. Land in excess of that needed to provide allotments for the enrolled tribal members was to be ceded to the government, surveyed, and appraised as agricultural or timber land. The agricultural land was to be opened for entry by "purchased homestead" and the timber land was to be sold at public auction with all proceeds placed in trust for the Ojibwe.

Under the Nelson Act, homesteads on ceded Ojibwe land had to be purchased at the rate of $1.25 per acre with payments due in five equal installments. Residence requirements and "proving up" procedures were the same as for regular homesteads. Originally the homesteads on Ojibwe land could not be commuted, but a later amendment allowed them to be commuted to cash entries. The yearly installment and commutation payments are recorded in the Register of Certificates to Purchasers of Chippewa Land. The act of 1904 authorized the Secretary of the Interior to proceed with the sale of ceded Red Lake Reservation land.

The abstract for each homestead entry gives entry number, date of entry, legal description and acreage of the tract entered, name and residence of the entryman, fees and commissions paid, and occasional notes on the eventual disposition of the entry with citations to letters received from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Included in this series is the Receiver's Register of Homestead Entry Receipts, for fees and commissions paid by the homesteader at the time of entry. It essentially duplicates the information in the Register of Homestead Entries, except for occasional differences in the annotations.

Register of Indian Allotment Entries under the Dawes Act, 1893-1897. 1 volume.

An abstract of land entries made in the Crookston land district under provisions of the Indian Allotment Act of February 8, 1887.

The Indian Allotment Act, often referred to as the Dawes Act, provided for the breaking up of Indian reservations by allotting land in severalty to enrolled tribal members and opening the remainder to settlement. Land "suitable for agricultural and grazing purposes" was to be allotted in tracts of 160 acres to all heads of families, 80 acres to all single persons over 18 and orphan children under 18, and 40 acres to all other children.

The register records the applications of Indians to receive their allotted acreage. The abstract for each allotment entry gives application number, date of application, name and tribal affiliation of applicant and/or minor child, description of the tract applied for, and remarks on the disposition or cancellation of the entry with citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

The register contains only four entries (on the first two pages of the volume); they are listed below. A researcher's note indicates the applicants were members of the Lac Courte Oreilles band of Chippewa from Wisconsin.

The remainder of the volume contains miscellaneous notes and figures apparently used in preparing the receiver's monthly accounts.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned application number.

Register of Indian Allotment Entries under the Nelson Act, 1901. 1 volume.

A schedule of land entries made in the Crookston land district for Indian allotments in the White Earth Reservation under provisions of the Nelson Act of January 14, 1889.

The Nelson Act (after Minnesota Congressman Knute Nelson) called for the Ojibwe Indians to cede all of their reservation land in Minnesota except the Red Lake and White Earth reservations. All Ojibwe except the Red Lake Band were then to be concentrated on the White Earth Reservation and given allotments in severalty. The Red Lake Ojibwe were to receive their allotments on the Red Lake Reservation. An amendment to the act allowed other Indians to take up allotments on their former reservations. Land in excess of that needed to provide allotments for the enrolled tribal members was to be ceded to the government, surveyed, and appraised as agricultural or timber land. The agricultural land was to be opened for entry under the Homestead Act and the timber land was to be offered for sale at public auction with proceeds placed in trust for the Ojibwe.

This series records the allotment entries made on the White Earth Reservation. The commissioner of Indian affairs presented the schedule of allotments to the Secretary of the Interior for approval February 28, 1901, with a recommendation that patents be issued. The allotment entries were then recorded by the register of the Crookston land district. The record of each allotment entry gives allotment number, Indian and/or English name of the allottee, tribal band of the allottees (at the head of each page), legal description and acreage of the tract covered by the allotment, allottee's age in the 1889 census or year of birth if born since 1889, blood status of allottee (full or mixed), and stamped dates apparently indicating the date a patent was issued. Occasionally there is a stamp, "Full Blood Indian."

Arrangement: Arranged by allotment number. The allotments for each band are grouped together (White Earth, Otter Tail, Leech Lake, Pembina, Fond du Lac, Mille Lac, White Oak Point, Gull Lake, and miscellaneous and supplemental entries.

Indexes: An index of names, in the order in which they appear on the schedule, is available in PDF format:

Related materials: The papers of Ransom Judd Powell among the manuscripts collections of the Minnesota Historical Society include several lists of allotments apparently based on the Register of Indian Allotment Entries. These lists include numerous annotations on family relationships and other matters. Volume 9 of the Powell papers appears to be another rendition of this list.

Register of Military Bounty Land Warrant Entries, 1873-1888. 1 volume.

Registers or abstracts of public land entries made with military bounty land warrants in the Crookston land district.

Several acts of Congress authorized the issuance of land warrants as a bounty for military service. The warrants entitled the holder to enter or "locate" a specified amount of public land. The warrants were transferable and most were entered by someone other than the person to whom they were originally issued. The Crookston entries (nos. 1-23) were all under the act of 1855.

The abstract for each warrant entry gives land office entry number, warrant number, date a warrant was issued, person in whose favor the warrant was issued, legal description of the tract located with the warrant, date located, and by whom located. Some entries are annotated with citations to decisions of the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Arrangement: Entries are numbered chronologically by date of land office entry.

Register of Red Lake and Pembina Scrip Entries, 1873-1906. 1 oversize folder.

An abstract of land entries made with Red Lake and Pembina scrip. The authorization for this scrip is not specified on the abstract, but it probably pertains to cessions under treaties with the Red Lake and Pembina bands of Chippewa of 1863 and/or 1867.

The abstract for each scrip entry gives entry number, scrip number, date the scrip was issued, person to whom it was issued, legal description of the tract entered with the scrip, date the tract was entered, person who located the scrip, and occasional remarks with citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office. Also includes Sioux half-breed scrip entries nos. 8-13, subsequently transcribed into the separate Register of Sioux Half-Breed Scrip Entries. The records are photostatic copies of originals that were sent to the General Land Office.

Register of Sioux Half-Breed Scrip Entries, 1879-1902. 3 leaves.

An abstract of land entries made in the Crookston land district with Sioux half-breed scrip.

The Treaty of Prairie du Chien of 1831 set aside 320,819 acres of land near present-day Wabasha as a reserve for the Dakota mixed-bloods. They were expected to settle and take possession of the reserved tract, but this did not occur. As the surrounding area was opened for settlement, pressure arose to open the half-breed tract. The mixed-bloods' title to the tract was extinguished by dividing the reserve among the enrolled mixed bloods and issuing scrip to each individual in proportion to his or her share of the reserve.

A total of 640 individuals received scrip to the value of 480 acres, and 38 persons were issued scrip for 360 acres. The scrip could be used to locate land, surveyed or unsurveyed, anywhere in the public domain. By law the scrip could not be alienated, but this restriction was often evaded and much of the scrip was entered by someone other than the person to whom it was issued.

The abstract for each scrip entry gives entry number, number and letter of the scrip, date the scrip was issued, acreage for which it was issued, person to whom it was issued, person by whom the scrip was located, date located, and legal description and acreage of the tract located.

This is a photostatic copy of the original register, which was sent to the General Land Office. Entry numbers 8-13 were originally recorded in the Register of Red Lake and Pembina Scrip Entries (cataloged separately).

Arrangement: Chronological by date the scrip was located.

Register of Supreme Court Scrip Entries, 1879-1894. 17 leaves.

An abstract of land entries made in the Crookston land district with "Supreme Court scrip" under provisions of acts of Congress of June 22, 1860, March 2, 1867, and June 10, 1872.

The act of June 22, 1860, was intended to settle the remaining claims of individuals or corporations that had received land grants from foreign powers prior to 1846 but whose title to the land had become clouded or lost. The act allowed the United States Supreme Court to decide these cases and to issue scrip, which could be redeemed for land elsewhere in the public domain, as compensation to those claimants who established the validity of their grants. This scrip, commonly known as "Supreme Court scrip," was transferable and most was entered by someone other than the person to whom it was originally issued. The acts of March 2, 1867, and June 10, 1872, extended the time in which these claims could be brought before the Supreme Court.

The abstract for each entry gives land office entry number, scrip number, acre/value of the scrip, date of the Supreme Court decree awarding the scrip, person to whom the scrip was issued, date the scrip was located (a land certificate was issued), legal description of the tract located, person who located the scrip, and occasional remarks with citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

This is a photostatic copy of the original, which was sent to the General Land Office.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned entry number.

Register of Surveyor General Scrip Entries, 1896-1902. 6 leaves.

An abstract of land entries made with surveyor general scrip in the Crookston land district under provisions of an act of Congress of June 2, 1858.

This act was intended to settle outstanding claims of individuals or corporations (mainly in Louisiana, Florida, and Missouri) that had received land grants from foreign powers but had lost the land to settlers or whose title to the land had become clouded. The surveyor general of the district in which the claim was located certified the amount of land lost by the claimant and issued scrip of equal value which could be used to locate land in the public domain. This scrip, commonly known as "Surveyor General scrip," was transferable and most was located by someone other than the person to whom it was originally issued.

The abstract for each entry gives entry number, scrip number, date the scrip was issued, acre/value of the scrip, person to whom the scrip was issued, legal description of the tract located with the scrip, date of location, person who located the scrip, and occasional remarks with citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

This is a photostatic copy of the original register, which was sent to the General Land Office.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned entry number.

Register of Timber Culture Entries, 1873-1891. 0.8 cubic feet (4 volumes).

An abstract of land entries made in the Crookston land district under provisions of the Timber Culture Act of March 3, 1873.

The intent of the Timber Culture Act was to encourage the planting of trees on the western prairies. The law enabled qualified individuals to acquire title to 160 acres of land on the condition that forty acres be planted to trees. Residence on the tract was not required. In the original act, the entryman was required to plant the entire 40 acres to trees in the first year after making entry. The time period was later extended to four years, and in 1878 the acreage was reduced to ten acres with a minimum of 2700 trees per acre at the time of planting and "675 living, thrifty trees" at the time of patenting. Timber culture entries could be "proved up" and patented after eight years. They could be made in addition to homestead or preemption entries. The Timber Culture Act was repealed in 1891.

The abstract for each timber culture entry gives application or entry number, date of application, legal description of the tract entered, acreage, name of the applicant and county of residence, and fees and commissions paid. Some entries include information on the date of final proof and the eventual disposition of the entry, with citations to letters from the commissioner of the General Land Office.

Included in this series is a register of timber culture receipts. The register of receipts contains the same information as the register of timber culture entries, except that there may be occasional differences in the annotations to entries.

Arrangement: Entries are chronological by date of application.

Rejected Applications to Enter Land, 1897-1908. 1.5 cubic feet (1 box and 1 partial box).

Applications to make homestead and timber culture entries that were rejected or suspended by the register and receiver of the Crookston land district or the commissioner of the General Land Office. Also included are several applications for leave of absence from homesteads and a rejected townsite entry (no. 2025) for the town of Spooner.

Most of the rejected entries were denied for technical and procedural reasons or because the intended entry conflicted with a previous entry on the tract. The records usually consist of a notice of rejection stating the grounds on which the application was rejected and copies of the homestead application and affidavit. Some include proofs of citizenship and other documentation. The majority of the rejected applications were apparently denied at the time the application was tendered, before an entry number was assigned. A few applications were accepted and then rejected at a later date. These are recorded in the Register of Homestead Entries (cataloged separately). Applications suspended by the register and receiver were usually forwarded to the commissioner of the General Land Office for final decision.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned rejection number. The numbers appear to interfile with those in the series of Rejected Homestead Proofs.

Rejected Homestead Proofs, 1897-1908. 1.3 cubic feet (1 box and 1 partial box).

Homestead final proofs, offered as evidence of compliance with the Homestead Act, that were rejected by the register and receiver of the Crookston land district or the commissioner of the General Land Office. This series also includes several rejected timber culture proofs.

Most of the rejected or suspended proofs were denied because the applicant failed to meet the Homestead Act's requirements for residence and improvements or because the entry was contested by another claimant. Some were rejected or suspended for technical and procedural errors in filing the proof.

Each rejected proof consists of a rejection notice stating the grounds for rejection; affidavits of the claimant giving a description of the tract homesteaded, date of settlement, and extent of improvements; and affidavits of witnesses giving detailed information on the claimant's residence on the homestead, extent of cultivation, and a description of the buildings erected and other improvements made. Many rejected proofs are accompanied by other documentation, such as proofs of citizenship, reports of General Land Office special investigators, or correspondence in support of the claimant's proof.

Arranged by chronologically assigned rejection number. The numbers appear to interfile with the Rejected Applications to Enter Land (above).

Serial Registers, 1908-1925. 4.0 cubic feet (13 volumes in 4 boxes).

An abstract of land entries made in the Crookston land district from July 1, 1908, to April 21, 1925. The serial register is a consolidated record of all types of land entries, and supersedes the various registers for different types of entries.

The abstract for each entry gives serial number, type of entry (homestead, purchase, etc.), name and address of entryman, legal description of the tract entered, date of entry, and notations of all transactions involving the entry up to the issuance of a patent or cancellation of the entry.

Arrangement: Arranged by chronologically assigned serial number.
