

Almost two months ago I said that the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.
snatched from American life the living reminder that one man can make a difference-- that one man by the force of his character, the depth of his convictions, and the eloquence of his voice, can alter the course of history.

Mrs. Martin Luther King has continued
her husband's struggle against intolerance and injustice in the nation he loved. It is a struggle which ultimately will prevail.
It is a rare privilege for me to introduce
Mrs. Martin Luther King who will read from Aaron Copeland's Lincoln Portrait.

Minnesota Historical Society

Copyright in this digital version belongs to the Minnesota Historical Society and its content may not be copied without the copyright holder's express written permission. Users may print, download, link to, or email content, however, for individual use.

To request permission for commercial or educational use, please contact the Minnesota Historical Society.

www.mnhs.org